

Saskatchewan Libraries Matter

I am a place where books are stored.

People come to me when they're bored

Books are stocked in a very high place

And there's no more space.

You can come for free.

But less people come to me.

Internet is spreading

Less people are reading.

Internet is spreading

Knowledge are lost.

People are addicted

Internet is invading.

Look, Look, and Look

Is this what future will look?

Libraries Matter,

You Matter!

My Name is Ace Casimiro and I live in Ogema. I am 15 years old and I am in Grade nine, I go to a school in Ogema with my friends. I live with my parents and my two siblings. I was born on October 4th, 2001 in the Philippines. In my free time, I read books and play games with my friend. I like reading romance and horror books because they make me cringe. I wrote this poem about why Saskatchewan Libraries Matter because teens now-a-days are like married to the internet. Most of the teens now don't read books and that needs to be changed.
