

Libraries Matter!

I think libraries matter because they have programs for little kids that teach them to read. Libraries also let you borrow fun things, like movies. They even help people with disabilities. They are important in every town and help everyone who live there.

When people are at the library, they can sit down, relax, work on things like crossword puzzles and read the local newspapers. They might just use it as a quiet place to read or study for a test. Lots of people like to use the library for their computers or WiFi. They even have things like online books you can borrow!

In Ogema, our public library is important because it's a really welcoming place for new people who move to town. Lots of people like to get books from our library or go down to watch movies together.

People need to remember that libraries are important!

Biography

My name is Navey Tondevold and I am a visually impaired, 13 year old girl who lives in Ogema. My birthday is August 7, 2003. I like hanging out with my Nana Olafson and playing on my iPad. My favourite song is, "Ride" by 21 Pilots.
